5.2: B: Die Familie

Go to the Swiss family advise website Zürich Familie at: <http://www.zuerichfamilie.ch> and answer the questions.

1. What are the headers that this website considers to be "family issues"? How do you say the following in German?

- |                    |                    |
|--------------------|--------------------|
| authorities        | health             |
| children           | house & garden     |
| emergencies        | on the road        |
| freetime           | insurance & budget |
| parents            | work               |
| to become a mother |                    |

2. Follow at least 3 of the links (except for FREIZEIT, which you'll deal with in detail in the next exercise) and jot down some notes what topics are listed under each.. What suggestions does the website give for one or two of these subtopics?

3. Click on FREIZEIT, then on FESTE FEIERN.

What tips does the Website have for a successful birthday party? For invitations and table decorations? Partying at home? What other suggestions do they make?

Read the information about Geburtstagsgeschenk. What presents does the website mention? For whom? What do they say about the wrapping?

What do they recommend for children? And especially for a god-daughter / god-son? (Göttikind in Swiss German)

4. Follow the link REZEPTE, then KUCHEN, PUDDING UND GETRÄNKE. What recipes are described here? What are the ingredients for one or two cakes? Are there any items here that you would likely NOT see at a birthday party or other celebration in your home country?
